Troops are being secretly brought to treaty ports. Batteries of the Yang-Tse river, the dispatch says, are being repaired, and new ones are being erected at Wu-Sung, despite the declaration of the viceroy that the work would be stopped, five guns having been mounted. The dispatch accuses the British of a secret understanding with the viceroy in accounting for indifference of the British fleet to the strengthening of the Chinese fortifications

General Groedekoff has sent the following dispatch to the War Office from Khabarovsk, dated Aug. 3: "Two columns from Blagovestchensk crossed over the Amur river at 8 a. m. under Colonels Schwerin and Scherikinoff, attacked the Chinese troops and took the town of Sakalin, one gun and a quantity of Mauser cartridges. PAID FOR FOREIGNERS' HEADS. Evidence Against the Viceroy Who Ruled Tien-Tsin.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4 .- Before the bombardment of Tien-Tsin prominent natives urged the viceroy to put down the Boxers, but the viceroy was in the latter's power and wired to Li Hung Chang for advice, says a Che-Foo special to the Herald. The latter advised crushing them at once, saying that the Boxers had gained too much headway. The viceroy also had instructions from the Empress to encourage the Boxers' attacks on foreigners. The Boxers have released all the criminals, who have joined them. Proofs have been dis that the viceroy offered and paid a reward for heads of foreigners. A cage was found in his establishment especially made for foreign prisoners. Documents found in the viceroy's office at Tien-Tsin ive the names of the heads of the Boxers. Their numbers were said to be 20,000. The viceroy had recommended some for official appointment. There are copies of his reports to the throne on the Tien-Tsin fight-ing. He asked for reinforcements and more runs. He recommended the retaking of the Taku forts, and on this appeared the Emdowager's indorsement, "Let the Taku forts be retaken. Miers, of Bloomington, the present member of Congress from the Second district, attended the reunion if the Eighty-fifth Indiana Regiment in this city last week, and both gentlemen were on the programme for addresses. Mr. Miers, in his address to the veterans at the love feast at the People's events in China the Czar has ordered that Theater, came out especially strong for expansion, notwithstanding the fact that both candidates were supposed to make ponpartisan speeches. Pointing to the flag | ing and the exportation of hard wood. on the stage, Mr. Miers said: "That flag is good enough for the American people and is good enough for the Philippines.' Continuing, he said: "Wherever that flag is run up it will never come down.' These remarks, coming so unexpectedly strong from him, a Democratic candidate for Congress, struck the audience forcibly and especially the old soldiers, who greeted the sentiments with shouts of approval. The sentiment expressed by Mr. Miers was like a powder flash among the Democratic leaders, and the principal conversation next day was: "Why, Miers is for expansion." As a result the Sullivan Times in its edition yesterday, had an interview with Mr. Miers, in which he utterly denied the plain English language he used in the County Council Cannot Control Truant Officer-A New Ruling.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal, RICHMOND, Ind., Aug. 4.-According to an opinion handed down by Judge Henry C. Fox, of the Wayne Circuit Court, today, the County Council has no right to interfere with the law which controls the operations of the truant officers.

The opinion was delivered in the case of Dr. William S. Dempsey, truant officer for Wayne county, against Alexander S. Reid, county auditor, to mandate the payment of a claim for $126 for services. The County .Council appropriated $100 to pay the truant officer and when the claim for $126 extra came in the Council refused to allow it the president of the Council taking the position that the services of such an of ficer were really unnecessary. When the suit for mandamus was filed to-day, the county auditor filed a demurrer, alleging that the facts set forth did not justify an alternative writ of mandate. The court overruled the demurrer and ordered a peremptory writ issued for the payment of the claim of the truant officer.

The court takes the position that the truancy law was passed prior to county reform law, which created the County Council, and that the working of the former is not subject to the latter and hence that the truant officer was entitled to his pay notwithstanding the action of the County Council.

Consul General Stowe Was Aboard and Secured Release of British Prisoners Captured by Boers.

LONDON, Aug. 4.-Lord Roberts telegraphs to the War Office that General Hunter reports that 3,348 men have surrendered to him altogether. General Hunter also secured 3.046 horses and three guns. These have now sent in, asking for terms of surrender. It will take some days to ascertain the exact number. The Boers, who excuse themselves for not fighting, say they are in a hopeless position. WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.-Preparations being made by the War and Navy Departments to facilitate the operations of the American forces in China, not only in the advance against Peking, but also for a winter campaign, indicate that the administration, while hoping that a condition of avowed war may be avoided, intends to be a pioneer settler of this county, and one of | prepared for it. Her body was taken to- to Taku, which can be reached by land. General Ludington is arranging for the transportation of 27,000 tons of fuel to Taku. Thousands of small campaign stoves have been sent to that point. Heavy winter clothing, doors for tents, arctic shoes, etc., have also gone. The transports will of course, be withdrawn before the gulf freezes, and any additional supplies subsequently sent to the troops must go via Che-Foo, which connects by means of a highway with Taku. Brigadier General J. W. Weston, commissary general of subsistence, is also preparing to dispatch six months' supplies to Taku. The Hancock, which recently sailed for China, carrying 973 men and 26 officers, conveyed sixty days' rations for these troops, and this supply will be greatly augmented. General Weston has in contemplation the simplification of the commissary supplies sent to Taku. He has called attention to the inadvisability of sending canned oysters, lobsters, mushrooms, peaches, pears, pineapples, two kinds of sardines, four kinds of pipes, etc., to China, and if his wishes are carried out descending from the platform when Pazza- the supplies will be limited to the wholesome ration of the army with a few extras for sale to the officers and men desiring to purchase them. This is a list of the articles selected at random from that detailing the supplies carried by the Hancock the amounts being given in pounds; Bacon, 21,976 pounds; corned beef, canned, 2,664; flour, 18,887; hard bread, 28,644; beans, loose and packed in cans, 5,430; rice, 606; hominy 464; potatoes, fresh, 7,651; potatoes, desiccated, 1,750; potatoes sliced, 1,750; onions 2,010; milk, canned, 7,820; macarino, 1,620 sugar, 5,151; butter, 1,050; green corn, in cans, 4,600; tomatoes, canned, 12,250. In addition to these articles there were apples apricots, cheese, chocolate, prunes, pre-serves, jellies, olives, pickles, etc. General Weston holds that in view of the difficulties in the way of prompt transportation it is entirely inadvisable to send so many arti-cles which are of course sold to officers and men, and he favors limiting the number of articles as much as possible. Surgeon General Sternburg is sending as many surgeons as may be needed to China, and is placing both medical supplies and money at their disposal.

AS VIEWED BY BISHOP MOORE.

The Chinese War Simply a Plowing of the Field for the Gospel. CHICAGO, Aug. 4.-Bishop David H Moore, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, take charge of missionary interests in Moore, head of the department of mathematics in the University of Chicago. The bishop will leave Chicago on Monday or Tuneday and will sail from San Francisco on the Japanese steamer Hong-Kong-"This Chinese war," Bishop Moore said, "is simply a plowing of the field for the gospel. The conservatism of China must give way to the expansive forces of modern ideas. My first and most urgent work in China will be to reorganize the work of the missionaries. At present the 156 missionaries of the church are so scattered that they themselves do not know exactly what is going on."

The bishop further explained the situation of the missionaries in China as follows: "The annual missionary conference was adjourned at Peking the very day the disturbance broke out. Some of the missionaries in attendance got away on the last train. Others, I think seven in all, are in the imperial city. The last I heard they had gone into the Asbury Church, a strong brick buttressed structure in the missionary compound. Dr. George E. Lowrey, a medical missionary, was in charge. They had the windows barricaded except for loopholes, had big jars of rice and water, and were ready for siege. About two hundred altogether were in the church, counting the women and children, and they had a guard of ten American marines, ten

English marines and twenty men missionaries. They could withstand in that church fortress anything except well-directed artillery fire. Whether they have since gone to the English legations we do not know. "The West China mission, the center of a so-called missionary conference, 1,600 miles up the Yang-Tse, is completely cut off. We have not heard from Spence Lewis, of this mission, nor any one there for some time. He is one of the most courageous missionaries in China. him are men who have often been hunted by the mobs seeking 'foreign devils.' They have been concealed by the native converts. MINISTER CONGER'S MESSAGE.

The Original Cipher Text Indicates that It Was Genuine.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 .- The Department of State authorizes the following statement in relation to the probable date of the first telegram from Mr. Conger, to which, in transmitting it through Sheng, at Shanghai, and Minister Wu, the Tsung Li Yamen assigned the date of 18:

"The Department of State is in possession of the original cipher text of the entire message as received by Minister Wu on July 20 and communicated by him to Secretary Hay on the morning of that day Is is partly in the Chinese cipher code and partly in that of the United States. The two texts were separated by several groups not intelligible in either cipher. As deciphered on July 20 the Conger messag appeared to begin with the words 'In British legation under continued shot and shell,' etc. With the aid of the full text as telegraphed from Che-Foo from Consul Fowler and already given to the press, the doubtful groups, which were distorted in telegraphic transmission, have now been corrected and found to read:

"'For one month we have been besieged -which intelligibly completes the sentence making the telegram read: 'For one mont we have been besieged in British legation under continued shot and shell from Chinese troops. Quick relief can only prevent general massacre. Conger.' "As it is known that the various legations and foreigners took shelter in the British legation about June 17, the date of Mr. Conger's telegram is fixed with approximate certainty as July 17. This agrees with Consul Fowler's cabled message that the original message, as written on a regular telegram form and signed 'Conger is supplemented by the words, 'F. H. Conger, July 17, address United States legation,' written on the same form, but evidently not transmitted. The fact that the authentic text of the original message, as received in Washington on July 20, agrees literally with Consul Fowler's report of the wording of the original form written by Minister Conger and bearing the file date of July 17, appears to establish the genuineness of the message and

Chinese Give as Excuse That Fighting Is Going on at Tien-Tsin.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.-The State Department this morning issued the follow-

"Minister Wu this morning handed to the acting secretary of state a copy of a telegram from the taotai of Shanghai, dated Aug. 2 and received by Mr. Wu on the evening of the 3d. It confirms the message of Yuan Shih Kai, Governor of Shan-Tung, to Mr. Fowler, consul at Che-Foo, purporting to communicate the same telegram of July 3 from the Tsung Li Yamen, but it is to be noted that it contains a passage omitted from Governor Yuan's messagenamely, the announcement that as fighting is going on in Tien-Tsin it is inexpedient to send cipher telegrams to the foreign ministers in Peking. In this particular the present telegram agrees with Consul General Goodnow's report, received yesterday, that Earl Li Hung Chang had told the French consul at Shanghai, on the 3d, that no messages would be delivered to the ministers because the foreigners were advancing on Peking. The Tsung Li Yamen's cablegram of July 30 is as follows: 'Foreign ministers in Peking are all safe and well. Recently vegetables, fruit and provisions have been repeatedly supplied to them. Relations most friendly. At present consultations are going on for the protection of the various ministers going to Tien-Tsin for temporary shelter, which will soon be concluded satisfactorily. But as fighting is going on in Tien-Tsin it is inexpedient that cipher telegrams should be sent. The different consuls have been notified so that they may inform their ministers, I transmit the above to you. "'YU LIEN YUEN.'"

They Threaten the Life of Their Consul at Honolulu. HONOLULU, July 27, via San Francisco, Aug. 4.-The news from China has stirred the Chinese here to the depths. Yesterday Yang Wai Pin, the Chinese consul, made an appeal to the government for personal protection, saying that he had received anonymous letters threatening his life. He accuses the Bow Wong Wui, or Chinese Reform Society, of having made the The Bow Wongs are the element opposed to the Empress dowager and desirous of having a liberal pro-foreign policy in the empire. They formed their societies here under the leadership of Leung Chi Tso, the exiled reformer, and the consul here sent to China the names of those who became members. As a result the relatives of the Honolulu Bow Wongs were cast into prison in China, and feeling against the consul runs high. One of the letters that frightened Yang Wai Pin referred to his action in sending the names of Bow Wongs to the imperial government and told him that he would be killed for doing so. The consul and vice consul, Go Kim, have made purchases of weapons, organized a guard at the Chinese legation and secured the protection of the Honolulu police. Two officers are kept constantly at the legation.

How to Address Mail. WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.-The War De partment desires it to be known that mail intended for the United States soldiers in China should be addressed with the full name of the soldier, his company and regiment, with the words "China, via San Francisco." In the case of staff officers or civilians of the army the same means -"China, via San Francisco"-should be employed. All the regular China mail routes in that section having been suspended, the government has been obliged to devise a service of its own, using the army transports as far as possible. A postal agent stationed at Nagasaki will make the first distribution of these mails, and another agent at Taku will care for the de-tails. These agents have started for China and will be in position to handle any mails written after this date.

A CINCINNATI PRIZEFIGHTER WAS BADLY HANDLED.

He Fought with George Munn and May Lose His Life-Taken to the Hospital.

Jack Bolen, the Cincinnati prize fighter, who spends a great deal of his time this city and at Walters's saloon on West Washington street, was stabbed five times in the back last night by George Munn, who made his escape and was not found by the police up to an early hour this morn-

Little could be learned of the beginning of the fight, which started in the barroom. The men got together out in front, and Bolen got Munn down. Munn had a knife or other sharp instrument, which he used while he was on his back. Bolen cried that he was being stabbed, and some one pulled him off Munn, who jumped up and disap-

Dr. Cotter, of the City Dispensary, was called and bound up Bolen's wounds, after which he was taken to St. Vincent's Hospital. He was very weak from loss of blood, and it was thought his injuries were perhaps fatal. Bolen said Munn was drunk and wanted to fight. Emil Glasser, of 519 West Market street, who was in the crowd and was connected with the fight, was arrested and charged with assault and battery.

"SMART" BUT ILL-BRED.

Bad Manners as Exhibited by the Typical American Girl of To-Day.

Mrs. A. J. Maren, in August Century. It seems a trifle unjust to the clever and well-bred American girl to dwell upon a familiar type so much en evidence as to overshadow all the others and pass everywhere as representative, but it is a question of tendencies. This typical girl of the day puts on mannish airs with mannish clothes, spices her talk with slang, not always of the choicest, tosses her pretty head in proud defiance as she puts down her parents, her elders, and her superiors deed, she admits no superiors, though this scion of equality does admit inferiors and snubs them without mercypronounces a final opinion on subjects of which she does not know even the alphabet, shows neither respect for white hairs nor consideration for favors which she claims as a right, and calls all this "swell," or "smart," and a proper expression of her fashionable, or unfashionable, inde-

The same spirit runs through the entire social gamut. There is nothing more contagious than bad mannars; it is so easy for the selfish instincts to come uppermost when the pressure of a law, written or unwritten, is removed. The insolence of servants is sufficiently emphasized. Even the shop-girl waits upon you with half-disguised impertinence, often impertinence without any disguise, and replies to your civil word with a lofty stare, as much as to say, "Since you are polite to me you cannot be of much consequence." . . The causes are not far to seek. A potent one is the rush and hurry of life in which everybody is intent upon doing the most in the least possible time. There is no leisure for small courtesies. It is a heterogeneous scramble for the loaves and fishes, in which the survival of the fittest resolves itself into a survival of the strongest. It is something akin to brute force that gains the prize, whether it be a seat in the car or a seat in Congress. Indeed, we claim, as a part of our national glory, the trait so well expressed by the word "push." It makes little difference what one pushes so ong as it stands in the way. Men in the garb of gentlemen do not scruple to thrust aside delicate women who happen to be oving before them in the process Well-dressed women run over one another. It is the same spirit applied to the minor morals as that which prompts the Wall street magnate to walk over his weaker rival, and the laboring man who has organized in the name of freedom and human brotherhood to crush out of cristman. protherhood to crush out of existence, he can, his poorer neighbors who have nother spirit of instinctive, though sometimes unconscious, selfishness, whether

See the Big Sign be crudely clear or hidden under some high-sounding name. Nor is the fact without its significance that women, who are natural arbiters of manners as well as conservators of morals, have been driven by necessity into the hustling crowd. It is an alternative between struggling for a foothold in the world or sinking; and success, nine times out of ten, is the triumph of aggression. This in itself is fatal to the self-effacement which is so strong an element of good breeding, and tends toward a radical change in the habits and traditions of womanhood, which must react more or less upon society. * * * By "society woman" I do not mean the type that first presents itself, the brilliant compound of style, daring and Paris gowns. whose life begins and ends with entertaining and being entertained, who puts the fashion of a handshake, the porcelain and cutglass of the dinner table, and the cost of an equipage above the simple graces and fine breeding which betray the choice life of generations, or the inborn taste and nobility that ask nothing from inheritance. I mean something that compares with it as the rare old lace compares with the machine-made imitation, as the rich and mellow ones of the cathedral window, which the light of centuries has tempered and softened, compare with the crude and garish coloring of its modern copy. There are society women upon whom the mantle of the old-time lady has fallen, through nature or heritage, whose social gifts are the sum of many gifts, the crown of many womanly virtues. One finds them everywhere, women who cherish the fine amenities, who are gracious, intelligent, tactful, kind, and active m all good works, who understand the art of elegant living, as well as the intrinsic value of things, and like to open their hospitable homes for the pleasure of their friends. It is such as these who represent the finest flower of our womanhood and help to preserve the traditions of gentle manners, which are in the way of being trampled out in the mad march of something we call progress. It is for these to ostracize vulgarity, to put up the delicate barriers which have been permitted to be let down between the pleasant comradeship of men and women, and the loud note of familiarity, to temper and the sordid spirit of Philadelphia Record. Some women are naturally tall, some become so by well-chosen physical exercises, and some have tallness, or the appearance of it, thrust upon them by an ingenious tailor or dressmaker.
